COUNTY CONTROLLER DID NOT QUALIFY YESTERDAY

Unsigned Road Contracts Caused New Official to Wait One Day

OFFICE PLANS CHANGED

New Official Will Share Same Compartment with County Commissioners

Owing to delay in signing up two of the road contracts Controller John H. Moffitt did not qualify for the office yesterday as expected. It was contended that if the two contracts passed over into the administration of the county controller they could not be completed, but would have to be re-advertised and start again from the beginning. The attorneys were divided in opinion on this, so Mr. Moffitt, to avoid delaying the contracts, waited until today when it is expected both he and his deputy, Chas. S. Ritchie, will take the oath of office.

Instead of occupying the county superintendent's room on the first floor of the court house as first intended, Mr. Moffitt has decided to use part of the commissioners' office. The basement room where the county superintendent has been located will be used by the commissioners as a room for the clerks, other than those that will remain in the public office on the first floor. In the main office, to accommodate the controller, a grill work will be placed across from the end of the present counter near the entrance to the corner, where the aisle leads into the private offices of the commissioners. The circular stairway that leads from the corner of this part of the office to the basement, will be done away with, thus providing for more room. The arrangement will also give the controller the use of the safe.

The new officials were busy yesterday getting things in shape for the business of their office, and it is expected that all road contracts will be signed up this morning.

HAS 170 INMATES

This Number of Unfortunates Is Maintained at The County Home

Poor Directors Emery, Courson and Irwin met at the county home Thursday evening and settled up the business of the institution for the month of September. Everything was found in first class shape and the directors were pleased with the care and oversight exercised by Superintendent John W. Quivey. There are at present 170 inmates in the institution.

The hospital for tubercular patients will be ready shortly. The place is now being furnished and gas will be put in.

There are at present 44 inmates at the children's home, under the care of Mrs. Rocky. Twenty are attending school.

Last Dance at the Park.

Tonight closes the season at Eldora Park, and the dance there is expected to be one of the leading social events of the kind this season. Last night a large crowd was in attendance, and all had an enjoyable time. Tonight a large crowd is expected.

Legal Papers Must Have Certificates

New Act Requires Residence and Addresses of All Interested Parties

It appears that a large number of persons, including attorneys are blissfully ignorant of the new act of Assembly requiring that all mortgages, assignments of mortgages, and agreements for the payment of money, shall have a certificate attached to such instruments giving the precise residence of the mortgages, assignees and persons entitled to interest and directing the recorder to refuse all such papers not bearing the required certificate. Nearly every day mortgages are received at the recorder's office at Washington without the certificate attached and the papers have to be returned for the proper endorsement. This causes vexation of spirit and delay.

FIRST MEETING OF ATHENE CLUB

Marked By Social Feature In Starting Fall And Winter Courses

TOPIC "THE MIDDLE AGES"

Miss Etta Christy, president of the Athene club, entertained the club members yesterday afternoon at the home of her sister, Mrs. R. A. Roberts of Crest avenue. The meeting was opened with a short address by Miss Hoge, last year's president, who in a few well chosen words surrendered the gavel and the responsibilities of the president's duties to the new president. Miss Christy in assuming the presidency asked the co-operation of the members and made an address most fitting for the occasion.

Mrs. Jesse E. Johnston, chairman of the program committee, spoke of the "Fall of Rome" and gave an outline of the year's work. The topic this year is "The Middle Ages" and Mrs. Johnston gave a most comprehensive talk of the condition of Rome during this period.

Nearly all the members responded to requests for vacation reminiscences, telling of their summer's outing. At the close of the addresses refreshments were served. Miss Christy was assisted in serving by the members of the social committee. The regular meetings of the club will be held fortnightly in the Merchants Association rooms in the Kirk and Clark building.

Split His Vacation.

Police Officer McEldowney, accompanied by Mrs. McEldowney, went to Pittsburg this morning for a day's outing. As the local force gets seven days' leave of absence each year, Officer McEldowney is splitting his up. Some time ago he took four days off, and after today will have a couple more to his credit. These he is saving for the hunting season.

GLASS WORKERS STILL OUT

Strikers at Window Glass Factories Say New Union's A Fake

PLANTS ARE PICKETED

It is stated that the organization of the new window glass workers' union has not settled the strike of cutters and flatteners at Belle Vernon and Monongahela. The men out on strike claim that the alleged new union was only a move on the part of the American Window Glass company to break the strike, and that there is no break from the ranks of the men who are out, nor will there be. The move, it is said, was a ruse on the part of the company to induce the men to capitulate and go back to work; but it is not meeting with any degree of success.

At Belle Vernon the strikers are now conducting an active campaign. Pickets are on duty at all avenues of approach, and the trains, boat landings, and street cars are watched. Every newcomer to the factory is approached and the situation explained to him, and it is said that many workers have been turned away when it was known that a strike is in progress.

There has been no violence, and none is expected, but the strikers are determined to make it as hard as possible to operate the plant.

MANDAMUS IS QUASHED

Proceeding Against Monongahela Mayor Started By Wrong Official

The mandamus proceedings brought by City Solicitor Carl E. Gibson in behalf of Monongahela against Mayor L. C. Isler, a hearing was had yesterday. The court sat in banc and listened to the attorneys on the question of quashing the mandamus. At the conclusion of the argument, the writ was quashed because the proceeding was not begun at the instance of the district attorney. It is understood that a new mandamus will issue.

OUTLINE OF PROGRAM FOR CHRISTIAN CENTENNIAL

Bishop Takes Action For Public Morals

Orders Formation of Societies In Churches to Combat Growing Evils

An order has just been issued by Rt. Rev. Bishop Canevin of the Pittsburgh Catholic diocese which will have a most important bearing on the public. This is a circular letter to all pastors in the diocese to organize a Holy Name Society in every parish within 60 days. The order was issued Thursday.

The object of the society is to check the sins of blasphemy, obscenity and profanity, which are becoming so alarmingly prevalent. Rev. Father W. D. Fries, pastor of St. Jerome's church, stated this morning that no steps had yet been taken to organize a Holy Name society in this parish, as the Bishop's order was only received yesterday, but that it would be complied with at once.

EPWORTH LEAGUE GETS TOGETHER

Holds Novel Social in Order To Make Members Acquainted

IMPROMPTU POETS SHINE

Last night was the occasion of a pleasant gathering at the Methodist church parlors. The young folks of the Epworth League had decided that in order to become better acquainted with each other, and to bring out that spirit of fellowship which is so desirable, they would hold an L. U. B. A. social. There was a good turnout and those in attendance were treated to a program which was a combination of the literary and musical.

One amusing feature of the evening was the passing around of illustrated cards on which were portrayed such inspiring subjects as lemons, keys, hairpins, buttons, matches, on which each individual was supposed to go into poetic ecstasies. The poetry on the place at the ship yards of Reese and Sons, 5:30 p. m. Wednesday, October 13.

At the close of the first division of the program a delightful lunch was passed around and the young folks spent the balance of the evening in social intercourse and amusement. Great interest is expected from now on in the big rally of the Epworth League to be held on October 10.

Off For Service.

This morning the Boys' Brigade of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church departed for Pittsburg, where they will take part in the parade of the convention there. The local command numbered nearly 30 strong, and with uniforms and equipment presented a natty appearance.

Large Church Buildings in Pittsburg Have Been Secured for Meetings

OCT. 16 PRINCIPAL DAY

Mayor Magee to Welcome Visitors—Prominent Speakers at All Events

Advance sheets from the program of the International Centennial celebration of the Disciples of Christ to be held in Pittsburg October 11 to 19 inclusive, have been received. These designate the various interests represented, the speakers, the halls and churches in which the sessions will be held. The Congregational, Oakland M. E., Bellefield Presbyterian and the First United Presbyterian churches, all in the vicinity of the Carnegie Music Hall and Duquesne Garden, will constitute the places of meeting for the various sessions. It will be impossible to give each speaker and theme but the following is a summarized and abbreviated outline of the program:

The convention opens with two sessions held in two auditoriums simultaneously at both of which Mayor Magee, of Pittsburg, will extend the welcome. Responses will be made by representative delegates.

During the afternoon of Tuesday and running parallel with the women's sessions will be held the first convention of the Brotherhood of the Disciples of Christ. This organization for the men of the church was first organized at the New Orleans National Convention, 1890. Prominent among the disciples who will take part in this launching of the Brotherhood movement are Thomas W. Phillips, Champ Clark Senator Oliver and other men of great business interests like C. C. Chapman, the Orange King of California; R. A. Long of Kansas City, president of the National Lumbermen's association, and others equally prominent in commercial lines.

A great missionary exhibit will be open to all visitors and delegates in Carnegie Music Hall throughout the conventions. On Wednesday the dedicatory exercises for the setting apart to missionary work upon the Congo and its tributaries of the "Steamship Oregon," will be one of the greatest features of this great day of the convention. The exercises will take place at the ship yards of Reese and Sons, 5:30 p. m. Wednesday, October 13.

Saturday is expected to be the day of greatest interest for all, a kind of climax. In five large auditoriums the following program will be carried out "Origin of the Restoration Movement," "Thomas Campbell and the Principles he Promulgated," "Alexander Campbell, Baron W. Stone and Walter Scott, Advocate of Liberty and Union the Truth." Each address is but 30 minutes. The above is the morning program in five halls. In the afternoon a similar program reviewing the history, and men who made it during the last 100 years will be carried out with the most prominent men in the Brotherhood as speakers.

This is but a preliminary announcement of leading features and the rest of the program will be announced later.

Why Not?

At stated intervals news from the various county seats is printed stating that the grand jury visited the jails, county homes and other public institutions, and found everything all right. No doubt the things were as stated; as the visitors were expected, and in some instances chickens were killed and preparations made for the event. But if these visits were made by taxpayers generally at any old time, different conditions might be found. Suppose, for instance, some civic club would appoint a delegation to drop into the county home, or the jail and look things over? They would have a perfect right to do so. A delegation might take a tour from Charleroi this week; one from Monongahela a week or two later; a delegation of the women's Century club from California might appear at the jail and look over the women's department and confab with the inmates, or some church congregation might send a committee over to the county home to look over the kitchen and menus. In doing so the public would only exercise an unbounded right, and every one would know the exact conditions of our public institutions.

It is stated that a Scotchman once went abroad a British battleship and sent word to the captain that one of the owners of the vessel wanted to see him. This is related as a joke, but the funny part of it is that it was literally true. We are so used to being bullied and bluffed by our public servants that any assumption of authority on the part of the masters is regarded as a joke. Any public institution that belongs to and is maintained by the public should be open to the inspection of the public at any and all times. We have prison and insane asylums inspectors, yet the grossest abuses and the most inhuman cruelties are still practiced in many of these institutions at times, chiefly because the public is debarred from access to its own institutions. There is no use of tolerating the tyranny of our paid servants in this respect, and the thing to do is to throw everything open to the light of day, and the abuses will now cease to exist. Corruption, cruelty and mismanagement cannot stand the light of publicity.

Should Keep Faith.

Regarding the improvement of water ways by the Government, Secretary of State Knox, in an address to the Pittsburg Chamber of Commerce, some time ago made the following remarkable clear and strong statement: "The duty of the Government to raise its waterways to their utmost efficiency was determined long ago by the action of the Government itself. When the Government assumed charge and control of the navigable streams of the interior it entered into a practical contract with the States and communities bordering these streams that their waterways would be improved to their highest capacity. The States were thereby prevented from improving the streams themselves. Corporate enterprise was forbidden to undertake the canalization of important stretches and the cost of their works and franchises on the traffic. The Federal Government had made its formal and deliberate declaration that it will do the work. That necessarily involves that it will make the improvement adequate to modern needs and possibilities. To do any less would be mockery and breach of good faith."

The Government is committed to this policy. What is desired now is for this section to make noise enough to show that the Ohio improvement should come first. This would make a revolution in industrial developments in the Monongahela valley, and no time or opportunity should be lost in pressing our claims.

Good for the "Booze Belt."

It may be somewhat of a startling piece of news to those papers on the east side of the county who are wont to refer to Charleroi as the centre of the "booze belt" to know that this town leads all other sections of the county in organized Sunday school work. Not only is its enrollment in proportion to the number of schools embraced in the district greater, but its standard of excellence is far and away above that of any other district in the county organization. In organized adult Bible study the district is also in the lead of any other in the county. What is most significant in connection with this standing is that the great majority of these Sunday school workers are young people. Charleroi being a comparatively new town the citizens on the stage of action are all comparatively young people.

Not only are the Sunday schools and Bible classes particularly active here, but the churches were never in a more thriving condition. In both Protestant and Catholic churches are organizations and brotherhoods whose mission is for the uplift of the religious, moral and civic standing of the community. These, too, are composed mostly of young people, who are imbued with a higher spirit of enthusiasm and more love for their fellow beings. In the matter of religious sentiment, church work, influence and civic standing, Charleroi not only compares with any other section in the county, but it leads the most of them.

Electric Sparks

When the gas meter doesn't work fast enough the company takes a hand. The Elizabeth Herald is authority for the statement that a resident of Fayette City wants to name the north pole Cooktown, while over at Perryopolis they want to call it Pearyville.

In answer to a correspondent we wish to state that the "California Girls" who are to appear at the Coyle Theatre next week are not from the Normal.

When a man has been assaulted, robbed and left lying in the highway, it's a hard matter to determine whether he's been held up or knocked down.

Our esteemed contemporary, the Washington Observer, continues to warm up coldy over the political situation a year hence.

With a new car barn and good ter-minial facilities here, that truly extension, Bentleyville ought to be an easy proposition.

If bodies of citizens and taxpayers would get into the habit of giving surprise parties to the jails, county homes and other public institutions, the expense of inspectors and directors might be dispensed with.

When the county controller gets into the official family over at the court house it will be, "Wherever McGregor sits is the head of the table."

VIOLENT CRIMES GROWING

The atrocious, reckless and murderous crime which cost two lives, and leaves a third in suspense at the gates of death, all for the contents of a till, in a saloon at the entrance of Hunting Park, Monday night, adds one more to the violent crimes whose number steadily increases, says the Philadelphia Press.

Many crimes diminish. Defalcations, in spite of a popular impression to the contrary, are far less in amount than they were. Wealth has grown and fiduciary responsibilities swell, but the total amount of defalcations annually are below those of a few years ago. Skilled bank burglaries are less numerous. The safe, electric light and electric alarms have got the better of the bank burglar. Counterfeiting notes does not compare with the amount, number and risk under the old bank note system half a century ago, or in the first twenty years of the National note system, bank or treasury, from 1863 to 1883. Every bank had to watch once for counterfeiters, as it does not now. Today counterfeiting is on a petty scale. Postoffice thefts by officials have almost disappeared. Instead of hunting for them, as its members once did, the postal secret service or force of inspectors is principally dealing with the use of mails for swindlers.

But while these crimes decrease crimes of violence increase. The perpetrator of the holdup on a Pennsylvania Railroad express has escaped as easily as if the line ran through a desolate land, instead of the second most populous State in the Union.

Other like crimes will occur to every reader, holdups, robberies and dynamite explosions, all by men who bring to great cities and a populous State the criminal methods of the frontier, the new settlement and the mining camp. Once out of the cities and our old Eastern settled States provide no more police protection against such crimes than new States.

For crimes like defalcations, counterfeiting, bank opening and swindles, the machinery of repression has improved. For crimes of violence no new safeguards are provided by the State and from the city police men ready to commit violent crime are safe as soon as they can reach a rural district, across the municipal boundary. The hope of escape, of disappearance emboldens men even when the city police is quick to arrest, as in this case.

The only remedy is a net work of State police patrols over the State, cutting off the wandering tramp and brute who strikes his blow, fires his shot and hopes to reach the countryside free of all watch and ward.

KEYSTONE STATE WILL STAND PAT

WANT TO INSURE PROSPERITY

(Special Correspondence.)

Harrisburg, Sept. 28.

Reports regarding the receptions given candidates on the Republican state ticket, A. E. Sisson, for auditor general, and J. A. Stober, for state treasurer, on their first week's stumping tour are of the most gratifying character.

They indicate that the rank and file of the Republican voters of Pennsylvania are alive to the issues of the campaign and the importance of polling a large vote at the coming election.

At every point at which these candidates stopped they were cordially received, and hundreds of the most active and prominent citizens of the respective communities were on hand to greet them and to assure them that they will have their support.

The initial meeting was held in Senator Sisson's home town of Erie, and from there Crawford, Venango, Mercer, Lawrence, Indiana, Jefferson, Armstrong and Butler counties, were visited.

The nominees attended the convention of the State League of Republican Clubs at Altoona, and they addressed the mass meeting at which Senators Penrose and Oliver and former Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw were among the other speakers.

The candidates were much impressed with the activity of the club men and of their plans for taking a prominent part in the work of the campaign. Senator Penrose in his speech dwelt upon the work of the young Republicans of the state in promoting the success of the party candidates and said it was greatly appreciated by the leaders of the party organization.

Oliver would recognize Stalwarts. Senator Cliver devoted part of his address to the same subject, and among other things said:

It is the members of this league and men like you, to whom the Republicans of Pennsylvania are indebted for their matchless organization, through whose labors the party has grown within the last generation from a mere fighting majority to a position of overwhelming supremacy. I am not one of those who subscribe to the doctrine that to the victor belong the spoils. That doctrine was first enunciated by a Democrat, was practiced by the Democratic party through every administration from Jackson to Buchanan, and never until the Republican party came into power was any other policy followed except that of cleaning out the offices on the advent of each administration and installing adherents of the new one. But while I am not an advocate of this doctrine, I do believe that he who works in the vineyard should eat of the fruits thereof, and that no man should be disqualified for any office, no matter how high, simply because he has served earnestly and faithfully in the ranks in behalf of the party in whose principles he believes. I believe that the term "politician" should be one of praise and not of reproach, that every inducement should be given to men to work for their party, and that an earnest, active interest in public affairs should be encouraged in all young men as they approach the voting age.

This week Candidates Sisson and Stober resumed their campaigning.

They visited Warren and Tioga yesterday. Today they are scheduled to go to Bradford, McKean county, and Coudersport, Forest county, and tomorrow to Emporium, Cameron county, in the morning, and Lock Haven in the afternoon. Thursday they are due in Clearfield in the morning, and Bellefonte, Centre county, in the afternoon. Friday morning they are to be in Lewisburg, Union county, and Friday afternoon they are billed for Sunbury, Northumberland county. Saturday's meetings will be held in Middleburg, Snyder county, in the morning, and Lewisburg, Mifflin county, in the afternoon.

Speaker Cox, of the state house of representatives, and Major McDowell, chief clerk of the national house of representatives, have been accompanying the candidates, and they have both written to Colonel Wesley R. Andrews, chairman of the Republican state committee, that they are elated over the cordiality and the manifest sincerity of the receptions that have been tendered the party's standard-bearers. They say there is no sign of party disaffection anywhere and that the Republicans are harmonious and aggressive in every county in which they have been.

SHOPPING ABROAD.

A Timely Word of Warning For the American Woman.

There is a mild little lecture in one of the English weeklies for the benefit of the American woman who travels and shops abroad.

"American women," says our critic, "even those with riches in abundance, are eminently practical as well as economical, though as shoppers they leave much to be desired, for many of them forget that the English business man has fixed prices and is not to be beaten down as if he were an oriental."

The criticism is doubtless a just one, but the writer need not have gone so far from home as the orient to draw her comparison, since in more than one country on the continent the American woman has had to learn the art of haggling over the price or else pay the one that has been made especially for Americans.

But it is a mistake to attempt to carry such a practice into England, for it is as much of a blunder to try to employ the methods of the oriental or Italian merchants in Oxford or Regent street as it would be to enter a department store and attempt to make the merchant lower his marked price.

The American woman who does not wish to encounter a lift of the eyebrows when she enters the best London shops will do well to bear this fact in mind.

But, as if the writer were remorseful for this little scolding which she has given the American woman, she hastens to make amends by commending her American sister for another form of economy which she practices.

"Our sisters across the Atlantic," she adds, "take greater care of their clothes than we do, and in this respect they show a better understanding of the word economy. Their pretty flower trimmed hats when worn while motoring are covered with a daintily draped waterproof silk cover chosen with discrimination to match the costume or the color of the car."

The Joke on the Jockey.

A few years ago a famous jockey was engaged to ride the favorite in an important race. On the way to the post he found himself cantering alongside a rank outsider, the mount of a stable boy who had only just commenced riding.

"You'll have to be careful with that brute, B," he remarked. "I've ridden him before, and you'll never be able to hold him."

B. thanked the crack for the hint and said that he would "do his best."

Halfway through the race the outsider and another were in front, with the favorite close behind. Fancying that the others were in difficulties, the rider of the favorite shouted:

"Pull out, B., and let me through. I've got the race in hand."

The crack was mistaken, however. Looking back, the stable boy replied, with a grin:

"I would, but I can't hold him!"

With which the novice let his horse have his head and shot away, the easiest of winners, to the chagrin of the crack, who finished second.

Choosing a Builder.

The selection of a builder is quite as important a matter in putting up a house as the choice of an architect. Don't choose the cheapest builder merely because he is cheapest. If you accept his bid, find out the reason of the cheapness. Frequently the builder is a man of little means, and often he operates on borrowed capital. Should the builder become bankrupt or fail to pay for his labor or materials the owner, under the mechanics' laws of most states, becomes liable for the builder's debts. This is true even though the owner has paid the builder for his work. In order to obtain his house free and clear in such a case the owner must meet the builder's obligations. The prudent owner will, of course, pay for his house only as it is constructed. Even then it would be a useful caution to make sure that the builder has paid his indebtedness on the house. Payments are usually made the builder when the foundations are done, when the frame is up, when the house is closed, when the plastering is finished and when the completed house is turned over to the owner.—Circle Magazine.

Ancient Castle, Curious Clock.

Rushen castle, Castledown, Isle of Man, is the ancient seat of the kings and lords of Man. The castle is a veritable curiosity both historically and otherwise. The first mention of it dates to the year 1257. It was taken after six months' siege in the year 1315 by Robert the Bruce. The castle is built of limestone and is not a ruin. Until a few years ago it was used as a prison. The town clock seen in the castle wall was presented by Queen Elizabeth in the year 1597. It has only one hand on the dial. This is the hour hand. The minutes are judged by the position of the hand between the hours. The works of this clock are also a curiosity. The weight at the end of the pendulum is a large stone, and it is driven by a rope coiled around a cylinder of wood, with another stone at the end of the rope. The clock is still going after its centuries of service and is still the town clock.—Newcastle (England) Chronicle.

The Colossus of Rhodes.

The gigantic Colossus of Rhodes was one of the seven wonders of the world. It was erected in honor of the sun by Charles of Lindus, a disciple of Lysippus, and was thrown down by an earthquake about 224 B. C. The figure stood upon two moles, a leg extended on each side of the harbor. A winding staircase led to the top of the figure, from out of the eyes of which were visible the coast of Syria and the ships sailing on the coast of Egypt. The colossi were the peculiar characteristic of eastern art and were of common occurrence, many of them being over sixty feet in height. The most celebrated is the statue of Memnon, on the plain of Thebes, described by the historian Strabo.

A Skeleton in Every Closet.

The expression "There is a skeleton in every closet" is said to have its origin in the fact that a soldier once wrote to his mother, who complained of her unhappiness, to have some sewing done for him by some one who had no cares or troubles. At last the mother found a woman who seemed to have no troubles, but when she told her business the woman took her to a closet containing a skeleton and said: "Madam, I try to keep my troubles to myself, but every night I am compelled by my husband to kiss this skeleton, who was once his rival. Think you, then, I can be happy?"

A song with the title "There's a Sign in the Heart" was sent by a young man to his sweetheart, but the paper fell into the hands of the girl's father, a very unsentimental physician, who exclaimed:

"What wretched, unsentimental stuff is this? Who ever heard of such a case?" He wrote on the outside:

"Mistaken diagnosis; no sign in the heart possible. Signs relate almost entirely to the lungs and diaphragm!"

COUNTY CONTROLLER DID NOT QUALIFY YESTERDAY

Unsigned Road Contracts Caused New Official to Wait One Day

OFFICE PLANS CHANGED

New Official Will Share Same Compartment with County Commissioners

Owing to delay in signing up two of the road contracts Controller John H. Moffitt did not qualify for the office yesterday as expected. It was contended that if the two contracts passed over into the administration of the county controller they could not be completed, but would have to be re-advertised and start again from the beginning. The attorneys were divided in opinion on this, so Mr. Moffitt, to avoid delaying the contracts, waited until today when it is expected both he and his deputy, Chas. S. Ritchie, will take the oath of office.

Instead of occupying the county superintendent's room on the first floor of the court house as first intended, Mr. Moffitt has decided to use part of the commissioners' office. The basement room where the county superintendent has been located will be used by the commissioners as a room for the clerks, other than those that will remain in the public office on the first floor. In the main office, to accommodate the controller, a grill work will be placed across from the end of the present counter near the entrance to the corner, where the aisle leads into the private offices of the commissioners. The circular stairway that leads from one corner of this part of the office to the basement, will be done away with, thus providing for more room. The arrangement will also give the controller the use of the safe.

The new officials were busy yesterday getting things in shape for the business of their office, and it is expected that all road contracts will be signed up this morning.

The hospital for tubercular patients will be ready shortly. The place is now being furnished and gas will be put in.

FIRST MEETING OF ATHENE CLUB

Marked By Social Feature In Starting Fall And Winter Courses

TOPIC "THE MIDDLE AGES"

Miss Etta Christy, president of the Athene club, entertained the club members yesterday afternoon at the home of her sister, Mrs. R. A. Roberts of Crest avenue. The meeting was opened with a short address by Miss Hoge, last year's president, who in a few well chosen words surrendered the gavel and the responsibilities of the president's duties to the new president. Miss Christy in assuming the presidency asked the co-operation of the members and made an address most fitting for the occasion.

Mrs. Jesse K. Johnston, chairman of the program committee, spoke of the "Fall of Rome" and gave an outline of the year's work. The topic this year is "The Middle Ages" and Mrs. Johnston gave a most comprehensive talk of the condition of Rome during this period.

Nearly all the members responded to requests for vacation reminiscences, telling of their summer's outing. At the close of the addresses refreshments were served. Miss Christy was assisted in serving by the members of the social committee. The regular meetings of the club will be held fortnightly in the Merchants Association rooms in the Kirk and Clark building.

These he is saving for the hunting season.

GLASS WORKERS STILL OUT

Strikers at Window Glass Factories Say New Union's A Fake

DIANTS ARE DISSENTED

It is stated that the organization of the new window glass workers' union has not settled the strike of cutters and flatteners at Belle Vernon and Monongahela. The men out on strike claim that the alleged new union was only a move on the part of the American Window Glass company to break the strike, and that there is no break from the ranks of the men who are out, nor will there be. The move, it is said, was a ruse on the part of the company to induce the men to capitulate and go back to work, but it is not meeting with any degree of success.

At Belle Vernon the strikers are now conducting an active campaign. Pickets are on duty at all avenues of approach, and the trains, boat landings and street cars are watched. Every newcomer to the factory is approached and the situation explained to him, and it is said that many workers have been turned away when it was known that a strike is in progress.

There has been no violence, and none is expected, but the strikers are determined to make it as hard as possible to operate the plant.

MANDAMUS IS QUASHED

Proceeding Against Monongahela Mayor Started By Wrong Official

The mandamus proceedings brought by City Solicitor Carl E. Gibson in behalf of Monongahela against Mayor L. C. Isler, a hearing was had yesterday. The court sat in banc and listened to the attorneys on the question of quashing the mandamus. At the conclusion of the argument, the writ was quashed because the proceeding was not begun at the instance of the district attorney. It is understood that a new mandamus will issue.

OUTLINE OF PROGRAM FOR CHRISTIAN CENTENNIAL

Bishop Takes Action For Public Morals

Orders Formation of Societies In Churches to Combat Growing Evils

AN ORDER HAS JUST BEEN ISSUED BY

Rt. Rev. Bishop Canavin of the Pittsburgh Catholic diocese which will have a most important bearing on the public. This is a circular letter to all pastors in the diocese to organize a Holy Name Society in every parish within 60 days. The order was issued Thursday.

The object of the society is to check the sins of blasphemy, obscenity and profanity, which are becoming so alarmingly prevalent. Rev. Father W. D. Pries, pastor of St. Jerome's church, stated this morning that no steps had yet been taken to organize a Holy Name society in this parish, as the Bishop's order was only received yesterday, but that it would be complied with at once.

EPWORTH LEAGUE GETS TOGETHER

Holds Novel Social in Order To Make Members Acquainted

IMPROMPTU POETS SHINE

Last night was the occasion of a pleasant gathering at the Methodist church parlors. The young folks of the Epworth League had decided that in order to become better acquainted with each other, and to bring out that spirit of fellowship which is so desirable, they would hold an L. U. B. A. social. There was a good turnout and those in attendance were treated to a program which was a combination of the literary and musical.

One amusing feature of the evening was the passing around of illustrated cards on which were portrayed such inspiring subjects as lemons, keys, hairpins, buttons, matches, on which each individual was supposed to go into poetic ecstasies. The poetry on the inspiring subject of a key was most effectively handled by Floyd Chalfant, who shared with Lambert Heaton in this romantic subject of rhythm and rhyme.

At the close of the first division of the program a delightful lunch was passed around and the young folks spent the balance of the evening in social intercourse and amusement. Great interest is expected from now on in the big rally of the Epworth League to be held on October 16.

Off For Service.

This morning the Boys' Brigade of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church departed for Pittsburgh, where they will take part in the parade of the convention there. The local command numbered nearly 30 strong, and with uniforms and equipment presented a natty appearance.

Large Church Buildings in Pittsburg Have Been Secured for Meetings

OCT. 16 PRINCIPAL DAY

Mayor Magee to Welcome Visitors—Prominent Speakers at All Events

Advance sheets from the program of the International Centennial celebration of the Disciples of Christ to be held in Pittsburg October 11 to 19 inclusive, have been received. These designate the various interests represented, the speakers, the halls and churches in which the sessions will be held. The Congregational, Oakland M. E., Bellefield Presbyterian and the First United Presbyterian churches, all in the vicinity of the Carnegie Music Hall and Duquesne Garden, will constitute the places of meeting for the various sessions. It will be impossible to give each speaker and theme but the following is a summarized and abbreviated outline of the program:

The convention opens with two sessions held in two auditoriums simultaneously at both of which Mayor Magee, of Pittsburg, will extend the welcome. Responses will be made by representative delegates.

During the afternoon of Tuesday and running parallel with the women's sessions will be held the first convention of the Brotherhood of the Disciples of Christ. This organization for the men of the church was first exploited at the New Orleans National convention a year ago. Prominent men among the Disciples who will speak at this launching of the Brotherhood movement are Thomas W. Phillips, Champ Clark Senator Oliver and other men of great business interests like C. C. Chapman, the Orange King of California; R. A. Long of Kansas City, president of the National Lumberman's association, and others equally prominent in commercial lines.

A great missionary exhibit will be open to all visitors and delegates in Carnegie Music Hall throughout the conventions. On Wednesday the dedicatory exercises for the setting apart to missionary work upon the Congo and its tributaries of the "Steamship Oregon," will be one of the greatest features of this great day of the convention. The exercises will take place at the ship yards of Reese and Sons, 5:30 p. m. Wednesday, October 13.

Saturday is expected to be the day of greatest interest for all, a kind of climax. In five large auditoriums the following program will be carried out "Origin of the Restoration Movement," "Thomas Campbell and the Principles he Promulgated," "Alexander Campbell, Baron W. Stone and Walter Scott, Advocate of Liberty and Union: the Truth." Each address is but 30 minutes. The above is the morning program in five halls. In the afternoon a similar program reviewing the history, and men who made it during the last 100 years will be carried out with the most prominent men in the Brotherhood as speakers.

This is but a preliminary announcement of leading features and the rest of the program will be announced later.

Why Not?

At stated intervals news from the various county seats is printed stating that the grand jury visited the jails, county homes and other public institutions, and found everything all right. No doubt the things were as stated, as the visitors were expected, and in some instances chickens were killed and preparations made for the event. But if these visits were made by taxpayers generally at any old time, different conditions might be found. Suppose, for instance, some civic club would appoint a delegation to drop into the county home, or the jail and look things over? They would have a perfect right to do so. A delegation might take a tour from Charleroi this week; one from Monongahela a week or two later; a delegation of the women's Century club from California might appear at the jail and look over the women's department and confab with the inmates, or some church congregation might send a committee over to the county home to look over the kitchen and menus. In doing so the public would only exercise an unbounded right, and every one would know the exact conditions of our public institutions.

It is stated that a Scotchman once went abroad a British battleship and sent word to the captain that one of the owners of the vessel wanted to see him. This is related as a joke, but the funny part of it is that it was literally true. We are so used to being bullied and bluffed by our public servants that any assumption of authority on the part of the masters is regarded as a joke. Any public institution that belongs to and is maintained by the public should be open to the inspection of the public at any and all times. We have prison and insane asylums inspectors, yet the grossest abuses and the most inhuman cruelties are still practiced in many of these institutions at times, chiefly because the public is debarred from access to its own institutions. There is no use of tolerating the tyranny of our paid servants in this respect, and the thing to do is to throw everything open to the light of day, and the abuses will now cease to exist. Corruption, cruelty and mismanagement cannot stand the light of publicity.

Should Keep Faith.

Regarding the improvement of water ways by the Government, Secretary of State Knox, in an address to the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, some time ago made the following remarkable clear and strong statement: "The duty of the Government to raise its waterways to their utmost efficiency was determined long ago by the action of the Government itself. When the Government assumed charge and control of the navigable streams of the interior it entered into a practical contract with the States and communities bordering these streams that their waterways would be improved to their highest capacity. The States were thereby prevented from improving the streams themselves. Corporate enterprise was forbidden to undertake the canalization of important stretches and the cost of their works and franchises on the traffic. The Federal Government had made its formal and deliberate declaration that it will do the work. That necessarily involves that it will make the improvement adequate to modern needs and possibilities. To do any less would be mockery and breach of good faith."

The Government is committed to this policy. What is desired now is for this section to make noise enough to show that the Ohio Improvement should come first. This would make a revolution in industrial developments in the Monongahela valley, and no time or opportunity should be lost in pressing our claims.

Good for the "Booze Belt."

It may be somewhat of a startling piece of news to those papers on the east side of the county who are wont to refer to Charleroi as the centre of the "booze belt" to know that this town leads all other sections of the county in organized Sunday school work. Not only is its enrollment in proportion to the number of schools embraced in the district greater, but its standard of excellence is far and away above that of any other district in the county organization. In organized adult Bible study the district is also in the lead of any other in the county. What is most significant in connection with this standing is that the great majority of these Sunday school workers are young people. Charleroi being a comparatively new town the citizens on the stage of action are all comparatively young people.

Not only are the Sunday schools and Bible classes particularly active here, but the churches were never in a more thriving condition. In both Protestant and Catholic churches are organizations and brotherhoods whose mission is for the uplift of the religious, moral and civic standing of the community. These, too, are composed mostly of young people, who are imbued with a higher spirit of enthusiasm and more love for their fellow beings. In the matter of religious sentiment, church work, influence and civic standing, Charleroi not only compares with any other section in the county, but it leads the most of them.

Electric Sparks

When the gas meter doesn't work fast enough the company takes a hand. The Elizabeth Herald is authority for the statement that a resident of Fayette City wants to name the north pole Cooktown, while over at Perryopolis they want to call it Pearyville.

In answer to a correspondent we wish to state that the "California Girls" who are to appear at the Coyle Theatre next week are not from the Normal.

When a man has been assaulted, robbed and left lying in the highway, it's a hard matter to determine whether he has been held up or knocked down.

Our esteemed contemporary, the Washington Observer, continues to warm up coldy over the political situation a year hence.

With a new car, barn and good terrestrial facilities here, that trolley extension, Bentleyville ought to be an easy proposition.

If bodies of citizens and taxpayers would get into the habit of giving surprise parties to the jails, county homes and other public institutions, the expense of inspectors and directors might be dispensed with.

When the county controller gets into the official family over at the court house it will be, "Wherever McGregor sits is the head of the table."

VIOLENT CRIMES GROWING

The atrocious, reckless and murderous crime which cost two lives and leaves a third in suspense at the gates of death, all for the contents of a till, in a saloon at the entrance of Hunting Park, Monday night, adds one more to the violent crimes whose number steadily increases, says the Philadelphia Press.

Many crimes diminish. Defalcations, in spite of a popular impression to the contrary, are far less in amount than they were. Wealth has grown and fiduciary responsibilities swell, but the total amount of defalcations annually are below those of a few years ago. Skilled bank burglaries are less numerous. The safe, electric light and electric alarms have got the better of the bank burglar. Counterfeiting notes does not compare with the amount, number and risk under the old bank note system half a century ago, or in the first twenty years of the National note system, bank or treasury, from 1863 to 1883. Every bank had to watch once for counterfeiters, as it does not now. Today counterfeiting is on a petty scale. Postoffice thefts by officials have almost disappeared. Instead of hunting for them, as its members once did, the postal secret service or force of inspectors is principally dealing with the use of mails for swindlers.

But while these crimes decrease crimes of violence increase. The perpetrator of the holdup on a Pennsylvania Railroad express has escaped as easily as if the line ran through a desolate land, instead of the second most populous State in the Union.

Other like crimes will occur to every reader, holdups, robberies and dynamite explosions, all by men who bring to great cities and a populous State the criminal methods of the frontier, the new settlement and the mining camp. Once out of the cities and our old Eastern settled States provide no more police protection against such crimes than new States.

For crimes like defalcations, counterfeiting, bank opening and swindles, the machinery of repression has improved. For crimes of violence no new safeguards are provided by the State and from the city police men ready to commit violent crime are safe as soon as they can reach a rural district, across the municipal boundary. The hope of escape, of disappearance emboldens men even when the city police is quick to arrest, as in this case. The only remedy is a net work of State police patrols over the State, cutting off the wandering tramp and brute who strikes his blow, fires his shot and hopes to reach the countryside free of all watch and ward.

KEYSTONE STATE WILL STAND PAT

Pennsylvania Will Vote to Sustain the New Tariff.

WANT TO INSURE PROSPERITY

Vote In November Will Crush Out All Elements That Would Encourage a Reopening of Legislation That Would Disrupt Business Conditions and Block the Wheels of Progress.

[Special Correspondence.] Harrisburg, Sept. 28.

Reports regarding the receptions given candidates on the Republican state ticket, A. E. Sisson, for auditor general, and J. A. Stober, for state treasurer, on their first week's stumping tour are of the most gratifying character.

They indicate that the rank and file of the Republican voters of Pennsylvania are alive to the issues of the campaign and the importance of polling a large vote at the coming election.

At every point at which these candidates stopped they were cordially received, and hundreds of the most active and prominent citizens of the respective communities were on hand to greet them and to assure them that they will have their support.

The initial meeting was held in Senator Sisson's home town of Erie, and from there Crawford, Venango, Mercer, Lawrence, Indiana, Jefferson, Armstrong and Butler counties were visited.

The nominees attended the convention of the State League of Republican Clubs at Altoona, and they addressed the mass meeting at which Senators Penrose and Oliver and former Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw were among the other speakers.

The candidates were much impressed with the activity of the club men and of their plans for taking a prominent part in the work of the campaign. Senator Penrose in his speech dwelt upon the work of the young Republicans of the state in promoting the success of the party candidates and said it was greatly appreciated by the leaders of the party organization.

Oliver Would Recognize Stalwarts. Senator Oliver devoted part of his address to the same subject, and among other things said:

It is the members of this league and men like you, to whom the Republicans of Pennsylvania are indebted for their matchless organization, through whose labors the party has grown within the last generation from a mere fighting majority to a position of overwhelming supremacy. I am not one of those who subscribe to the doctrine that the victor belong the spoils. That doctrine was first enunciated by a Democrat, was practiced by the Democratic party through every administration from Jackson to Buchanan, and never until the Republican party came into power was any other policy followed except that of cleaning out the offices on the advent of each administration and installing adherents of the new one. But while I am not an advocate of this doctrine, I do believe that he who works in the vineyard should eat of the fruits thereof, and that no man should be disqualified for any office, no matter how high, simply because he has served earnestly and faithfully in the ranks in behalf of the party in whose principles he believes. I believe that the term "politician" should be one of praise and not of reproach, that every inducement should be given to men to work for their party, and that an earnest, active interest in public affairs should be encouraged in all young men as they approach the voting age.

This week Candidates Sisson and Stober resumed their campaigning.

They visited Warren and Tioga yesterday. Today they are scheduled to go to Bradford, McKean county, and Coudersport, Forest county, and tomorrow to Emporium, Cameron county, in the morning, and Lock Haven in the afternoon. Thursday they are due in Clearfield in the morning, and Bellefonte, Centre county, in the afternoon. Friday morning they are to be in Lewisburg, Union county, and Friday afternoon they are billed for Sunbury, Northumberland county. Saturday's meetings will be held in Middleburg, Snyder county, in the morning, and Lewisburg, Mifflin county, in the afternoon.

Speaker Cox, of the state house of representatives, and Major McDowell, chief clerk of the national house of representatives, have been accompanying the candidates, and they have both written to Colonel Wesley R. Andrews, chairman of the Republican state committee, that they are elated over the cordiality and the manifest sincerity of the receptions that have been tendered the party's standard-bearers. They say there is no sign of party disaffection anywhere and that the Republicans are harmonious and agreeable in every county in which they have been.

Tipped, "Doesn't this boat tip a great deal?" asked a timid young woman of the steward.

"The vessel, ma'am," said the steward, "is trying to set a good example to the passengers."

SHOPPING ABROAD.

A Timely Word of Warning For the American Woman.

There is a mild little lecture in one of the English weeklies for the benefit of the American woman who travels and shops abroad.

"American women," says our critic, "even those with riches in abundance, are eminently practical as well as economical, though as shoppers they leave much to be desired, for many of them forget that the English business man has fixed prices and is not to be beaten down as if he were an oriental."

The criticism is doubtless a just one, but the writer need not have gone so far from home as the orient to draw her comparison, since in more than one country on the continent the American woman has had to learn the art of haggling over the price or else pay the one that has been made especially for Americans.

But it is a mistake to attempt to carry such a practice into England, for it is as much of a blunder to try to employ the methods of the oriental or Italian merchants in Oxford or Regent street as it would be to enter a department store and attempt to make the merchant lower his marked price.

The American woman who does not wish to encounter a lift of the eyebrows when she enters the best London shops will do well to bear this fact in mind.

But, as if the writer were remorseful for this little scolding which she has given the American woman, she hastens to make amends by commending her American sister for another form of economy which she practices.

"Our sisters across the Atlantic," she adds, "take greater care of their clothes than we do, and in this respect they show a better understanding of the world economy. Their pretty flower trimmed hats when worn while motoring are covered with a daintily draped waterproof silk cover chosen with discrimination to match the costume or the color of the car."

The Joke on the Jockey.

A few years ago a famous jockey was engaged to ride the favorite in an important race. On the way to the post he found himself cantering alongside a rank outsider, the mount of a stable boy who had only just commenced riding.

"You'll have to be careful with that brute, B," he remarked. "I've ridden him before, and you'll never be able to hold him."

B. thanked the crack for the hint and said that he would "do his best."

Halfway through the race the outsider and another were in front, with the favorite close behind. Fancying that the others were in difficulties, the rider of the favorite shouted:

"Pull out, B, and let me through! I've got the race in hand."

The crack was mistaken, however. Looking back, the stable boy replied, with a grin:

"I would, but I can't hold him!"

With which the novice let his horse have his head and shot away, the easiest of winners, to the chagrin of the crack, who finished second.

A Dear Victory.

"In your little family arguments do you ever succeed in convincing your wife that she is wrong?" "Yes, but afterward I always deeply regret having done so."

Choosing a Builder.

The selection of a builder is quite as important a matter in putting up a house as the choice of an architect. Don't choose the cheapest builder merely because he is cheapest. If you accept his bid, find out the reason of the cheapness. Frequently the builder is a man of little means, and often he operates on borrowed capital. Should the builder become bankrupt or fail to pay for his labor or materials the owner, under the mechanics' laws of most states, becomes liable for the builder's debts. This is true even though the owner has paid the builder for his work. In order to obtain his house free and clear in such a case the owner must meet the builder's obligations. The prudent owner will, of course, pay for his house only as it is constructed. Even then it would be a useful caution to make sure that the builder has paid his indebtedness on the house. Payments are usually made the builder when the foundations are done, when the frame is up, when the house is closed, when the plastering is finished and when the completed house is turned over to the owner.--Circle Magazine.

Ancient Castle, Curious Clock.

Rushen castle, Castledown, Isle of Man, is the ancient seat of the kings and lords of Man. The castle is a veritable curiosity both historically and otherwise. The first mention of it dates to the year 1257. It was taken after six months' siege in the year 1315 by Robert the Bruce. The castle is built of limestone and is not a ruin. Until a few years ago it was used as a prison. The town clock seen in the castle wall was presented by Queen Elizabeth in the year 1507. It has only one hand on the dial. This is the hour hand. The minutes are judged by the position of the hand between the hours. The works of this clock are also a curiosity. The weight at the end of the pendulum is a large stone, and it is driven by a rope coiled around a cylinder of wood, with another stone at the end of the rope. The clock is still going after its centuries of service and is still the town clock.--Newcastle (England) Chronicle.

The Colossus of Rhodes.

The gigantic Colossus of Rhodes was one of the seven wonders of the world. It was erected in honor of the sun by Charles of Lindus, a disciple of Lysippus, and was thrown down by an earthquake about 224 B. C. The figure stood upon two moles, a leg extended on each side of the harbor. A winding staircase led to the top of the figure, from out of the top of which were visible the coast of Syria and the ships sailing on the coast of Egypt. The colossus were the peculiar characteristic of eastern art and were of common occurrence, many of them being over sixty feet in height. The most celebrated is the statue of Memnos, on the plain of Thebes, described by the historian Strabo.

A Skeleton in Every Closet.

The expression "There is a skeleton in every closet" is said to have its origin in the fact that a soldier once wrote to his mother, who complained of her unhappiness, to have some sewing done for him by some one who had no cares or troubles. At last the mother found a woman who seemed to have no troubles, but when she told her business the woman took her to a closet containing a skeleton and said: "Madam, I try to keep my troubles to myself, but every night I am compelled by my husband to kiss this skeleton, who was once his rival. Think you, then, I can be happy?"

A song with the title "There's a Sigh in the Heart" was sent by a young man to his sweetheart, but the paper fell into the hands of the girl's father, a very unsentimental physician, who exclaimed:

"What wretched, unscientific stuff is this? Who ever heard of such a case?" He wrote on the outside: "Mistaken diagnosis; no sigh in the heart possible. Sighs relate almost entirely to the lungs and diaphragm."
